

OGRA RELATED NEWS

Gas utilities told to cooperate with developers of LNG terminals

ISLAMABAD: The government has ordered the Sui Southern Gas Company Limited (SSGCL) and Sui Northern Gas Pipelines Limited (SNGPL) to hold weekly meetings with the developers of two upcoming liquefied natural gas (LNG) terminals to remove impediments, besides immediate handover of the possession of land for tie-in facilities near Pakistan Steel Mills, it emerged on Sunday.

<https://www.dawn.com/news/1619053/gas-utilities-told-to-cooperate-with-developers-of-lng-terminals>

Reflections on a complicated legacy

Since the restoration of judges in March 2009 through the lawyers movement, exercising of public interest jurisdictions under Article 184 (3) of the constitution by the Supreme Court (SC) have remained under severe criticism.

<https://tribune.com.pk/story/2295435/reflections-on-a-complicated-legacy>

Gas companies resist allocation of pipeline capacity to new terminals

LAHORE: The dispute between the state-owned gas companies and sponsors of the two proposed private LNG terminals — Tabeer and Energas — over pipeline capacity allocations for the projects will likely linger for a much longer period than anticipated by the investors.

<https://www.dawn.com/news/1618884>

Delay in access agreement irks CNG association

LAHORE: The Sui Northern Gas Pipelines Ltd (SNGPL) is allegedly delaying the approval of an agreement meant for accessing its distribution network by a consortium formed to import LNG and supply to several member stations of the All Pakistan CNG Association (APCNGA) in Punjab.

<https://www.dawn.com/news/1618869/delay-in-access-agreement-irks-cng-association>

OGRA to hold public hearing on petitions

ISLAMABAD: The Oil and Gas Regulatory Authority (OGRA) will hold public hearing on petitions for grant of license for construction and establishment of a LNG re-gasification terminal including all allied facilities at Port Qasim, Karachi.

<https://www.brecorder.com/news/40085278/ogra-to-hold-public-hearing-on-petitions>
